Natural Law Liberalism

Christopher Wolfe
Table of Contents

Acknowledgments
Introduction

Part I: Contemporary Liberalism

Chapter 1: Contemporary Liberal Exclusionism I: John Rawls’s Antiperfectionist Liberalism
Rawls’s Political Liberalism
The Inadequacy of Rawlsian Liberalism
Rawlsian Liberalism and Tolerance
Better Than a Modus Vivendi?
Rawls’s Conventionalism

Chapter 2: Contemporary Liberal Exclusionism II: Rawls, Macedo, and “Neutral” Liberal Public Reason
Macedo’s Rawlsian Public Reason
Some Basic Problems with Public Reason
Macedo’s Critique of Natural Law
Slavery and Abortion
Public Reason as Argumentative Sleight-of-Hand
Public Reason and Religion
Conclusion

Chapter 3: Contemporary Liberal Exclusionism III: Gutmann and Thompson on “Reciprocity”
The Condition of Reciprocity
Why Liberal Reciprocity is Unreasonable
Mozert v. Hawkins

Chapter 4: Contemporary Liberalism and Autonomy I: Ronald Dworkin on Paternalism
Volitional and Critical Interests
Paternalism
Additive and Constitutive Views of the Good Life
The Critique of Various Forms of Paternalism
Crude Paternalism
Endorsed Paternalism
Substitute Paternalism
Conceptual Paternalism
A "Paternalist" Response
Volitional Paternalism
Crude Paternalism and the Critique of the Additive View
Future Endorsements
Ethical Integrity
Influencing the Conceptual Menu
Transcendent Standards
The Impact and Challenge Models
Conclusion

Chapter 5: Contemporary Liberalism and Autonomy II: Joseph Raz on Trust and Citizenship
Coercion
Trust
Trust and Citizenship
Problems with Raz's Citizenship
Citizenship, Self-Respect, and Mutual Respect
Liberal Tyranny
Conclusion

Chapter 6: "Offensive Liberalism": Macedo and "Liberal" Education
Diversity and Distrust
Distrusting Diversity and Distrust
The Liberal Regime and Character
The Futility of "Public Reason"
Dispensing with Consent
Offensive Liberalism
Liberalism and the Need for Tolerance
Liberalism and Freedom to Make Life's Basic Choices
Parental Rights
Laying Out the Options Neutrally?
Neutrality in Mozert?
Political Liberalism and a "Sociology of Knowledge"
Conclusion

Part II: Liberalism and Natural Law

Chapter 7: Understanding Liberalism: A Broader Vision
Understandings of Liberalism
A Brief History of Liberalism
The Core Principles of Liberalism
The Tendencies of Liberalism
Defining Liberalism Too Broadly?
Chapter 8: Understanding Natural Law
   A Brief History of Natural Law
   Natural Right
   The Stoic Tradition
   Roman Law
   Augustine
   Thomistic Natural Law
   Modern Natural Rights
   Levels of Natural Law
   Natural Law as Objective Value
   Natural Law Rooted in Human Nature
   Natural Law and a Natural Order of Ends
   Classical Thomistic Natural Law
   Contemporary Natural Law Debates: the "New Natural Law Theory"
   The New Natural Law Theory
   Observations on the New Natural Law Theory
   Core Agreement on Natural Law
   Classical Natural Law and Liberty
   Classical Natural Right and Slavery
   Non-Absolutist Political Rule
   The Limits of Law
   The Limited Range of Natural Law Precepts

Chapter 9: Liberalism and Natural Law
   The Truth Natural Law Sees in Liberalism
   Natural Law and the Core Principles of Liberalism
   Natural Law and the Tendencies of Liberalism
   What Liberalism Often Fails To See
   The Influence of the Regime
   Liberalism and Truth
   Liberalism and Revealed Religion
   Liberalism and the Family
   Reconciling Natural Law and Liberalism: Why Does It Matter?

Chapter 10: "Cashing Out" Natural Law Liberalism: The Case of Religious Liberty
   A Preliminary Note on "Religion"
   Natural Law and Religion
   Natural Religion
   Revealed Religion
   Natural Law, the Common Good, and Religion
   The Common Good and Truth
   The Common Good, Truth, and Religious Freedom
The More Serious Argument for Limiting Religious Liberty
Principled vs. Prudential Arguments for a Broad Religious Liberty
Principled and Prudential Arguments in General
Prudential Arguments Regarding Religious Liberty
The "Principled Prudential" Argument

Chapter 11: A Natural Law Public Philosophy

Conclusion